Question of the Month

How does our readiness to forgive reflect God's mercy?

Budget Report

Contributions YTD as of April - $52,942 YTD Budget - $56,664

Have you ever noticed how often Christians talk like the Holy Spirit's main role is to convict them? "The Spirit convicted me of this... or that..." But half the time, what they're really describing sounds more like anxiety or guilt spiraling out of control than anything from God. Scripture says the Spirit convicts the world of sin (John 16:8), not believers. For those in Christ, the Spirit comes to comfort, not torment—to remind us who we are and whose we are (Gal. 4:6–7; 2 Tim. 1:7). When shame floods in and fear grips us, the Spirit testifies with our spirit that we're God's kids. Not forgotten. Not disowned. Loved. Forgiven. And free to cry out, "Abba, Father."
